Julie Weil named 2022 LEA Distinguished Lutheran Elementary Teacher

Julie Weil was selected to receive Lutheran Education Association's 2022 Distinguished Lutheran Elementary Teacher Award. Ms. Weil teaches at Zion Lutheran School in Georgetown, Tex. Julie has also taught in public schools in suburban Chicago.

Julie earned a B.A. in elementary education from Concordia University Chicago and completed a Colloquy from the same university. She has been nominated for numerous LEA and Texas District awards in the past.

Commenting on Julie's nomination, her principal said, "The entire faculty and staff (all 47 of us) concur and support this nomination for Julie. Every single one would have a story to tell you about this woman of faith and how deeply she loves each child and desires for them to grow in their faith...."

One parent commented, "When you walk into Mrs. Weil's classroom, it is immediately apparent that her classroom is alive with active learning. As great as she is during whole-group instruction, Mrs. Weil truly shines when working with students individually."

Among her joys in ministry, Julie says, "... to see them succeed and apply their knowledge. I love watching my students profess their faith and make positive choices based on what we teach them every day."

Julie says, "My mission is to unconditionally support each one of my students and to guide them into becoming positive and faithful lifelong learners."
